Powderly's salary as grand under workman has been increased from $1,500 to $5,000. The secretary and treasurer are to receive each $2,500. Formerly Turner held both offices and received but $1,200.

"There is room enough for every man in a country like this," declares Chief Arthur, of the Locomotive Brotherhood, "and every man disposed to work must be allowed to find the chance." This expresses in a brief and simple way a principle of profound and comprehensive importance.

All Kansas Democrats are opposed to the principles of prohibition because they do not think it performs what its adherents claim it does.—Leavenworth Standard.

"All Kansas Democrats" could as consistently oppose the law against theft which we observe by the Leavenworth papers does not entirely prohibit burglary.

Globe Democrat: The attempt of the Democrats to carry Kansas on a free whisky platform, with a renegade Republican as a candidate for governor, becomes a more and more doubtful and difficult proceeding as the days pass and discussion progresses. Prohibition has not been a perfect success in Kansas in every respect; but the people are not willing to swap it for a system of open and complete saloon rule and they are quite as much opposed at the same time to the idea of making a governor of a man who has followed the example of St. John in going over to the Democrats because the Republicans quit electing him to office.

ABE WRIGHT.
 Abe Wright is making such a clean sweep of it for clerk of the district court that we heard a man offering to bet that no one was running against him. That we believe, is the general impression. Abe will make a very competent clerk. As for his faithfulness as an official the people of the county need no assurances.

NOT POSTED.

The Beacon tells the Junction City Union that the Eagle has flopped on the Wilson-Anderson fight which will be news to the Union. If the editor of the Beacon will walk across the street we will show him two editorials in the Eagle, both of which we believe was copied in the Union and one of which was written within a week after Wilson's nomination, and both of which declared without an "if" or a "but" that should John A. Anderson consent to run he would be elected. We said this out of no conviction that Anderson was the strongest man in that district, but because we were satisfied that the people of that district would so elect him as the most direct rebuke which could be given the job and the strongest condemnation which could make against the methods of the men who nominated Wilson. The Eagle is not mashed on John A. Anderson at all but it claims to possess a little political sense.

A CARD OF WITHDRAWAL.

TO MY FRIENDS OF THE THIRD COMMISSIONER DISTRICT:—After mature deliberation I have reached the conclusion that to run a political race for any office in the gift of the people is not just the thing for a minister of the pulpit to do. I am a friend of temperance and if my candidacy would result in success for the principles of temperance I would not be in doubt as to my duty in making the race, but I cannot hope for election and I am afraid if I continue as a candidate it will result in the defeat of a good man for the place, one who is a strong temperance advocate, both in his life and conversation. Therefore I respectfully resign and decline to run for the office of county commissioner of the Third District as the nominee of the prohibition party. Thanking you for the nomination I am yours truly,

W. W. DORMAN.

A POLITICAL PREACHER.

As a preacher regularly ordained and duly stationed on a salary, the Reverend Mr. Parker at Valley Center, renders himself somewhat conspicuous as a would be political factor. If anybody believes that Mr. Parker is forwarding the cause of temperance in his endeavors to defeat the Republican party the fact has not been announced. We don't know how his congregation feel, but unless they are wonderfully like himself they would probably prefer that he gave his heart to one line or the other. The Divine Master had little use for the political prattler, but great compassion for him who hung his head and smote his breast. All the people that Parker will save, either from themselves, from whisky or from school, by fighting the Republican party, will not crowd the "many mansions" uncomfortably in all probability. We are sorry for Parker, as we would be for any man who persists in smiting the hand that would do him a kindness.

COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

T. H. Randall, of Mt. Hope, whom the Republicans nominated for county commissioner for the third district, may not be, and probably is not much of a politician, but he is a capable and honest business man all the same. He probably knows little, or if knowing, feels little like rustling about making special promises to this citizen or that or the other interest, but he will all the more surely go into the office untrammelled and free to do the things and do those things which in his unbiased judgment are essential and necessary. Mr. Randall may fall to show the usual anxiety of the average nominee to become an Eli, but he is such a man as will be felt on the board, and therefore such a man, who, when he asks for anything for the people or for any locality of his district, will be very apt to get just what he asks for. The character and standing of such a man is not only all important to the taxpayers of his district, but of the greatest importance to the county at large, in that its interests will be wisely conserved and vigilantly protected. We don't know that there is any fight being made by any Republican against Mr. Randall, but being a very mild and modest man, we expect that upon the other hand he is making no fight for himself. We therefore hope that his friends will not permit misrepresentations made by the Democrats to go unrebuked or undenied.

DOWN AT MELVANE.

A part of the town of Melvane lies in Rockford township, Sedgewick county. A correspondent writes the Eagle from that point to the effect that two or three Republicans, including a couple of gentlemen who have political aspirations, together with two or three Democrats, have banded together to make a fight on a portion of the Republican ticket. We prefer not to give the names for fear there may be some mistake. We can't understand upon what grounds any Republican can oppose the nominees of the Republican convention. There are no legitimate reasons for such an attitude. Personal dislike or personal disagreement are the only causes imaginable unless their action is controlled by a money consideration. No Republican who has a spark of manhood could be influenced by money. There has never been even a hint that any man on the Republican ticket secured his nomination by any but the most honorable course. As for the man, who, as a delegate in a convention, works for the nomination of any man and afterwards turns about and attempts to destroy or nullify his own action and the desire of the people whom he represented in convention, such an one will never be trusted by the people again in such a capacity. Neither people or candidates would trust him farther. We can conceive of no more reprehensible a political action than for the men who nominated a ticket to turn and attempt to defeat their own action. Such work would be an utter lack of good faith, and we hope our correspondent has been misinformed. However, we assure him if it is true, whether the ticket is elected or not, the people will take care that such men do not represent them in the future.

A COMPETENT JUDGE.

Hon. Jos. G. Waters, of Topeka, sizes up St. John as follows:
 "John P. St. John is a daisy. When I was an anti prohibitionist, defending saloon keepers by the year and declaring at every turn of the road that prohibition did not prohibit, and cited the then multifarious saloons of Topeka to prove it, St. John was engaged at home and abroad in asserting that it did, and now, when the saloons are all gone and there is not a place in Topeka where boys can loaf at an evening and get drunk, St. John declares that it is a failure. It took him four years before he learned to stop putting shoe blacking on his mustache, and it may take him fully as long to discover that he is incorrect on the prohibition business."

This Capital is quoting from the Eagle's article giving the animus of the mudsills in the Fifth district says:
 "The Wilson gang abuse every man high or low who refuse to support their plot to defeat the will of the republican party of the district. Senator Plumb has refused to make a canvass for Wilson and for that reason he is infamously abused by the ex-saloon keeper who edits and owns the Gazette, and the balance of the Wilson gang. All honor is due Senator Plumb for his prudent course."

TRADES UNIONS.

To the Editor of the Eagle.
 The Beacon of the 25th contained an article headed Answer to Trades Unionists. Without entering into any discussion regarding some facts stated about D. R. Anthony, I cannot see that it has any bearing upon the duty of Knights of Labor in the present political contest. The K. of L. assembly in Wichita have declared that as an organization they have no political preferences, and that each and every member shall vote for the candidate he prefers. Not knowing what M. M. Murdock's views are regarding the formation of a union in this city—having never had any conversation with him on the subject—I cannot tell what he would do if such organization ever started in this city. Probably he would do what all other employers do—if it were to the interests of his paper to employ union men he would employ them. If not, he would seek such labor as suited his requirements—if the union was not too strong for him.

Personally, I think he is friendly to both Typographical union and the Knights of Labor. The statement that the Beacon is the only paper which has expressed a willingness to come into the union, if organized, may be a very recent whim of the Beacon proprietors; but not many months ago when the Beacon changed its dress, and the men were changed from weekly to piece men, and they could not, many of them, make the two dollars per day which they had been receiving, its employees asked for an increase of wages. The managing editor, one of the proprietors, told the printers in the Beacon composing room that if they struck for more wages he would employ girls to do the work.

Of course this is a good argument why every union man and K. of L. in Wichita should vote the Democratic ticket, especially if he has two or three girls of his own to support.

The simple amount of the matter is, that when the printers of Wichita find sand enough in their craws to stand up like men, form and organize a union, get a charter and then say to their employers: "We have a union, and ask you to give us wages proportioned to those paid in other metropolitan cities, and the cost of living in Wichita," their requirements will undoubtedly be considered and granted. Until they do that, they will and are compelled to work for any wages paid.

Personally I am now and always for protection. Free trade Democracy means hire whom you can at any wages the poor devil will stand, no unions, idle shops, calico one cent per yard (200,000 idle girls and women and men is its cost), colored cotton and woolen mills north and south, closed iron mills, Cuba cigars for four cents (100,000 cigarmakers idle), 500,000 puddlers, molders, and iron workers idle, Newcastle coal dumped on our wharves at $1.00 per ton, and 1,000,000 coal miners and their families starving, etc.

SLED TWO, On the Eagle.

ONE OF GROVER'S VETOES.

During the recent reunion at Emporia there was a caller upon Commander Fairchild, who at this particular time deserves special mention. He was blind, being led by a little girl, his daughter. When introduced to General Fairchild, he took the general's hand between his two stumps of arms and gave it a hearty shake.
 This man lost his eyesight and his hands during the war in battle. A special bill granting him a pension was introduced into congress and passed. The bill reached the president and was one of the 103 pension bills voted by that patriot. The ground of the veto is some technicality in the veteran's enlistment papers. There has been no question raised as to the nature of his disabilities, or the place of infirming them. This fact was well established, but because of some informality by an ignorant recruiting officer the old soldier is compelled to beg for a living when a pension should support him. Colonel Moonlight fully endorses the action of Cleveland in vetoing these pension bills, and pronounces the course outlined righteous and holy, and at the same time asks old soldiers to support him for governor.—[Eureka Herald.]

KANSAS.

Governor Martin in an excellent address in the city Saturday evening laid this to say of the great commonwealth over which he presides:

"This is a great state. It is the heart of the American continent. Its history is a romance of the most thrilling interest. Its development has been without parallel in the recent history of American commonwealths. It has absorbed in its population, the best blood and brain of all the civilized nations of the earth. During a campaign of thirty years waged by the peaceful forces of civilization on the prairies of Kansas, seventy-nine thousand square miles of territory have been planted in crops. Six hundred cities and towns dot the map of the state, nearly six thousand miles of rail are kept bright by the constant friction of a mighty commerce; property worth fully six hundred million dollars has been accumulated, seven thousand school houses welcome throngs of eager children, a crop of educated men and women are annually harvested, and fully a million and a half of intelligent, enterprising and prosperous people have homes within the borders of this state. The black banners of industry float from thousands of mills and factories. Fields and meadows are rich with herds and flocks. The face of the land has been transformed with forest, orchards and hedge-rows. Everywhere is growth, improvement, increase; everywhere the promise of a larger, truer life and a firmer, deeper faith in the greatness and glory of Kansas. Here is the central state, the sunflower state, the soldier state, and within its borders prosperity and order, intelligence and sobriety, industry and enterprise, go hand in hand.

And we are yet at the threshold and in the morning of it all. Kansas is still in the bloom of youth; she has only a few of the men and women of the great past. Loving freedom and loyal to the core; believing in education and respecting law; striving to keep her young manhood sober, clean and healthy; never a feeble imitator, yet always willing to learn; not afraid to experiment, and always ready to keep of energy and enthusiasm—the Kansas of our love and our faith; this is the fair mistress of our hearts, to whom, adopting the language of Ruth to Naomi, we say: "Entreat me not to leave thee, or to return from following after thee; for whither thou goest I will go, and where thou lodgest I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God; where thou dwellest I will dwell, and there will I be buried."

Garden City has caught it and is organizing a "Chautauqua Library and Scientific Circle."

KANSAS KINKS.

The Methodists at Ashland have built a $22,000 church edifice.

"Quite a flood of emigration seems to be drifting through Kansas into No-Man's-Land."

The Salvation army continues to draw immense crowds and make many converts at Lawrence.

A new savings bank has been organized at Leavenworth. The small moneyed people will have a chance.

The "Caledonian club" is the latest social organization in Atchison. The Scotch abound around the old city.

Laredo, one of the most thriving cities of the west, is now supporting a complete street railroad in full operation.

Dodge City is rapidly coming to the front. The building boom the past season has been unprecedented.

Greensburg, the county seat of Kiowa county, is fast attaining metropolitan proportions and will soon be a city of the second class.

Grove county is rapidly settling up and there are already about 1,000 voters in the county. A little over a year ago there were but 100.

Fargo Springs, the metropolis, as well as the county seat of Seward county, is enjoying a splendid trade and growing right along. It is a supply point for all that vast scope of country known as "No Man's Land."

The eagle kept in the court house square at Troy is becoming ferocious. Last week he pounced down upon a small dog that was passing under his perch, and ran his talons through the animal, causing his death in a few minutes. The eagle is a spirited bird.
